On the Means of Multiplying the Smaller Birds around our Dwellings.

On this subject, the last number of Hovey's Magazine contains an excellent article from the pen of Wilson Flagg. We can, in brief, give his points. Few realize how much birds, as companions of our residences, add to our happiness. To those pent up in the city, a walk one of these bright mornings to where the merry birds are laughing in the fullness of their joy is ecstacy; and as all pleasant impressions go toward forming our character and life, the more numerous we can make them the better.—Birds, like the flowers, green fields and singing brooks, are part of the poetry of the world—banish them, and how gladness would give place to gloom, and music to mourning. Birds, too, apart from the happiness they give us, are real friends to the farmer: they rid him of thousands of insects that would destroy his crops.

Mr. Flagg gives two plain methods of preserving birds: "The first consists in omitting to destroy them: the second in promoting the growth of certain trees, and other plants on which they depend for shelter and subsistence. "The birds, considered in relation to trees and shrubbery, may be divided into two classes. First, the familiar birds that live in our orchards and gardens, and increase in numbers in proportion as the woods are cleared, and the lands devoted to tillage. To this class belong several of our sparrows, the wren, the blue-bird, the American robin, the bobolink, the linnet, the yellow-bird, and some others. The second are the less familiar birds that frequent the woods and wild pastures, and which would be exterminated by reducing the whole forest to park or tillage. Among these may be named the little wood-sparrow, one of the sweetest of American songsters, nearly all the thrushes, the towee finch, and many of the sylvias, and woodpeckers.

"To preserve the first of these species little is necessary to be done except to avoid destroying them; but to insure the multiplication of the second, we must study their haunts, the substances provided by nature for their food, the plants that afford them shelter, and to a certain extent labor to preserve all these for their use. The little brown sparrow is never heard in the heart of our villages, unless they are closely surrounded by woods. Yet this bird does not live in the woods. He frequents the pastures which are overgown with wild shrubs, and their undergrowth of vines, mosses, and ferns that unite them imperceptibly with the green sward by which they are surrounded. He is always found in the whortleberry pastures, and probably makes his repast on these simple fruits in their season.

"He builds his nest on the ground, on a mossy knoll, under the protection of a thicket.—Every bird is more or less attached to a particular character of grounds and shrubbery; and if we destroy this character, we drive this particular species from our neighborhood, to seek in other places its natural habits. Hence we may account for the comparative silence that pervades the grounds of some of our most admired country seats; for with respect to the wants of our most familiar birds, it is possible that cultivation may be carried too far."

In all well cultivated farms and country residences the familiar birds will be plenty; but the others will frequent those places only where wild shrubbery, thickets, &c., abound. Every one by watching the habits of birds can tell what is necessary to induce them to be friendly. By removing all underbrush, you as effectually banish the cat-bird, red thrush, &c., as you would exterminate the squirrel by destroying the nut-bearing trees.

A fence-row near the house grown up with all sorts of wild plants, will become an aviary of many singing birds. Study the habits of the blue-bird, martin and swallow, and you may have them about you by thousands.

From the earliest period of our history, it has been customary among our people to encourage the multiplication of swallows, by the erection of bird houses in their gardens and enclosures. This custom was probably derived from the Aborigines, who were in the habit of furnishing a hospitable retreat for the purple martin, by fixing hollow gourds or calabashes upon the branches of trees near their cabins. It is generally believed that these little birds serve, by their unceasing annoyances, to drive away the hawks and crows from their vicinity, performing thereby an essential service to the farmer. This pleasing and useful custom has of late years grown unaccountably into disuse. The chattering of swallows is one of the delightful accompaniments of a vernal morning; and that of the martin, in particular, is the most enlivening of all sounds from animated nature. As the birds of the swallow tribe subsist upon insects that inhabit the atmosphere, it is not in our power to increase their means of subsistence. Hence the only means we can use for increasing their numbers is to supply them with a shelter and retreat. By such appliances it would be easy to keep their numbers up to a level with the quantities of insects that constitute their prey.

The wren and blue-bird are encouraged by similar accommodations. But these birds are not social in their habits, a separate box must be supplied for each pair of birds. The wren is an indefatigable destroyer of insects, and one of the most interesting of our familiar songsters, singing like the riser, during the heat of the day, when most other birds are silent. The blue-bird, which is hardly less familiar, delights in the hollow branch of an old tree in the orchard, but would be equally satisfied with an artificial imitation of the rude convenience supplied him by nature.

If we observe all these requirements, when employed in filling a farm or laying out a country seat, we do but avoid the destruction of those beautiful relations which nature has established throughout the earth. The plough and the scythe may do their work for man, without interfering with the wants of those creatures whom nature has appointed as the enliveners of his toil. Every estate might be made to represent the whole country, in its fields and cultivated lawn, with their proper admixture of forest, thicket and primitive herbage. Then, while sitting at our windows, the eye would be delighted by the sight of little coppices of wild shrubbery, with their undergrowth of mosses, ferns, and Christmas evergreens, rising in the midst of the smooth lawn, and charming opposition to the flower-beds, that are distributed in other parts of the ground. In these miniature wilds the small birds would find a shelter suited to all their wants and instincts, and in return for our hospitality, would act as the sentinels of our orchards and gardens, and the musicians to attend us in our daily labor and recreations.

MILWAUKEE:

SATURDAY:::::::::::::::::::::::::::::::::MAY 20.

For President in 1856,

JOHN P. HALE, of New York.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

GEORGE W. JULIAN, of Indiana.

SIX YEARS AGO,

This morning, we first saw the sun rise in Milwaukee. We arrived here Friday evening, about 9 o'clock, and found all full at the States, and took up quarters at the City Hotel, then kept by Daniel Wells, Jr. The next morning, Mr. C. C. OLIN, then proprietor of the paper, introduced us to our sanctum. On our way, at Ludington's corner, we found a boy—J. H. Hynk, 15 years of age and a Hollander, who could speak English just enough to make his wants known,—with a saw buck and axe on his shoulder, seeking business. Mr. Olin slapped him on the shoulder and asked him if he would go with him. John resigned his implements and a job he had just engaged to an acquaintance, and went with us into our sanctum, and after waiting 15 minutes hearing us talk, and fearing that he was losing time, he asked if there was anything for him to do. He was put at once to rolling, learned the case before anybody knew it, and has worked his way thro' all branches of the art, with the Dictionary beside him, has gained a thorough knowledge of the English language, and is now one of the swiftest and most accurate compositors in the State. He has become a part of the establishment and has prospered with it, owns $500,00 of Railroad Stock and other property, has married, and is on the highway to competence.

Within the last six years, what changes have taken place in the city of our adoption! Its population has more than doubled—its wealth has quadrupled. It had then but two Daily newspapers struggling for life. It now has seven Daily papers, calling the News, by courtesy, a newspaper. Then its buildings were mostly of wood—now it is a city of bricks, and many of its edifices would be an ornament to any of our old cities.

Of our own progress we need not speak. We have worked hard during these six years, and truth does not require us to say that we have not kept pace with the progress of the city.—We have no cause for grumbling. The next six years will work far greater changes

The Janesville Gazette

Thinks our statement that [we] went to Janesville to collect dues, and make arrangements for the distribution of papers, may be true. If it knows of any other object which led us to Janesville, at that time, will it please state it, and not resort to the contemptible trick of making insinuations. We visited the Railroad [illegible] at Janesville—with Dr. Mitchell and not with Mr Smith—because, having finished our business, and having a little time on our hands, we desired to see the suburbs of Janesville.—Does the Gazette wish it to go abroad, that if an editor is seen riding with Mr. Smith in a carriage in the streets of Janesville, for the purpose of seeing the city, that he is at once an object of suspicion, and is to be taken to task for it, and his motives impugned for it.

If the Gazette will state the facts in regard to the proposed union in '49, and our support of Nelson Dewey, whom we opposed to the best of our ability, we shall find no fault with it.—And if it chooses to republish what we said of A. Hyatt Smith last spring, we have not the least objections. Our judgement is formed from its general course, that it is a mere tender to the Standard, and the Hunker party. It gives the Sentinel the following blast:

"If whigs choose to be misled by it, into the support of their political opponents, we will do what we can to have them do so understandingly. When we learn again, as we have before, that the editor of the Sentinel, counsels the nomination of a Democrat for Governor, by a Whig State Convention, we, perhaps, may have less delicacy in saying so to the public."

The Gazette proved its consistency by professing to be a strong Maine Law advocate, and supporting a candidate for Governor pledged by precept and practice against the Maine Law, against the advice of all the Whig press, and almost the entire Whig party.

THE National Era will do us a favor and save us some postage which we now pay for forwarded letters, if it will correct its list of Free Democratic papers for Wisconsin. We do not publish a daily paper at Waukesha, and never have. The following, we believe, to be a correct list:

Free Democrat, Milwaukee, Wis.: S. M. Booth; Daily $6,00, Tri-Weekly $3,00, Weekly $2,00.

Advocate, Racine, Wis.: C. Clement; Daily $5,00, Weekly $2,00.

Telegraph, Kenosha, Wis.; Sholes & Densmore: Daily $5,00, Weekly $1,50.

Free Press, Janesville, Wis.: Joseph Baker; $1,50.

Western Freeman, Fond du Lac, Wis.; J. A. Smith, $1,50.

Democrat, Oshkosh, Wis.; Geo. Burnside & Co.; $1,50.

One is about being started at Elkhorn, but with what name or under whose control we know not.

UNSATISFIED.—The Madison Journal says we are unsatisfied with its position—true—that we "fear the Whigs have some deep-laid plan to build themselves up at the expense of the Free Soilers"—untrue—that we would not add anything to the strength of any party; and that no union can be effected by a newspaper discussion, which is very likely, if the newspapers generally should assume the insolent tone of the Journal. It speaks highly of the article of the Kenosha Telegraph on union, and exalts Wm. H. Seward above all other statesmen, because he is not guilty "of ministering to the miserable local jealousies and prejudices of any particular section."

Does the Journal mean to imply that John P. Hale, S. P. Chase and Charles Sumner minister to such prejudices?

TRIALS AT DETROIT FOR CUTTING LUMBER ON GOVERNMENT LANDS.—The Detroit Inquirer gives quite an account of the trial of sundry persons in that city, indicted for cutting timber on Government Lands. The Inquirer publishes the following as the substance of sundry affidavits presented, which the U S. District Attorney would not allow to be read. They develope a somewhat rich state of affairs:

"The affidavit of Loomis shows a settlement of Loomis and Ludington with Willard, a payment of $5,000 to Willard, and a payment of $500 to John Dudgeon, who promised to use his influence with Willard to take the $5,000; Willard having demanded $10,000. This affidavit shows also the discharge of Haynes, the agent of Loomis and Ludington, who was held under arrest until the money was paid.

Canfield's affidavit shows the payment of $3,000 to Willard, and $300 to John Dudgeon, paid to influence Willard to take the $3,000, he having previously demanded $10,000.

H. A. Mitchell's affidavit sets forth that he is U. S. Dep. Marshal for the State of Illinois, and that he had papers in his hands for the arrest of the Canfields, and the statement of Willard to Mitchell, that the Canfields had settled and paid $3,000, and were not to be further prosecuted, with a direction to the Marshal not to serve the papers.

The other affidavits on the file showed an attempt, on the part of Willard and Durkee, to induce several persons who stand indicted, to testify against and help commit the Canfields, under the promise of reward for so doing, and under a like promise that the indictments against them should be dismissed if they did so.

The affidavit or disposition of Mears, shows a sale of a large quantity of shingles and shingle-bolts, from Willard to Dudgeon, and a sale of the same from Dudgeon to Mears, and a payment by Mears, in part to Willard, and in part to Dudgeon."

The Nebraska Bill.

If the friends of the Nebraska Iniquity succeed in their plans, the measure will be passed to-day. We think it quite probable it will be postponed by the resistance of the minority.—The majority has doubtless been corrupted. Macy, it is said, is now for it. Our own member does not appear to be conspicuous in the matter.

The Era and other papers say that some Northern members will vote against the bill out of regard to their constituents, but will take no active and earnest measures to defeat it—that there is no heart in their opposition. We hope our member will not be found in this category.

COLLISION—180 lives lost.—On the 28th ult. the American barque Hesper, from Charleston, S. C. for Antwerp, came in collision with the barque Favorite, from Bremen for Baltimore, in the English Channel. The latter vessel was struck on the starboard bow, cut down to the water's edge and her foremast carried away.—The captain, mate and four seamen of the Favorite, got on board of the Hesper during the collision, and the remainder of the crew are thought to have taken to the boat, but have not since been heard of and are doubtless all lost.

BURGLARY.—On Wednesday night last, the Stores of L. Clemens and F. E. Jones at Palmyra, Jeff. Co., were broken open and about $300 in money and Jewelry taken from the latter, and nothing of value from Mr. Clemens.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to break open the Store of Geo. H. Foster on the same night.

A brace and set of bitts were taken from the waggon shop of J. Clifton.

"GIANTS IN THOSE DAYS."—The Free Democrat speaks of "the ante-diluvians who mocked at Noah's Ark, while the water was up to their chins, and the surging waves swept over the highest mountains."

They must have been tall 'uns, being higher "by a head" than the highest mountain.—Madison Democrat.

Our cotemporary has such a tendency to the lowest places, that it does not seem to occur to him that men in a flood would seek the highest places.

SALE.—J. Y. Watson, of Waukesha, has sold his farm, of half a section, some two and a half miles from the village of Waukesha, for $8,000 to two Vermonters of capital, who have come to make Wisconsin their home.

We heard yesterday of a man, with a capital of $150,000, who has come to invest it here and make his home here on account of the Glover rescue

THE editor of the Beaver Dam Republican rejoices in the present of "a beautiful new Panama hat." What there is under that hat thinks the Court of Impeachment, ought to have received double pay, and that Governor Barstow has not made an appointment "incompatible with a just discharge of his duties." It should be a broad hat to cover so much.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A collision occurred on the New York Central R. R., near Buffalo, on Tuesday last, by which one person was killed and several others badly injured. Two baggage cars were smashed into splinters.

COLUMBIA CO. BANK.—Such is the name of a new Bank, recently put into operation at Portage City, with a capital of $25,000, Samuel Marshall, President, and H. S. Hascall, Cashier.

BARQUE OF THE WEST.—This is the name of a new vessel launched at Buffalo, on Wednes. last. She is 800 tons register, being the largest vessel ever built for the inland waters.

FOR the commencement at Yale, Senator Seward is to be the orator of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, and John G. Saxe the poet.

THE British fleet in the Baltic numbers fifty vessels of war. Tonnage 88,629. Guns 2,330. Crews 32,114.

H. J. Nazro & Co.—We invite attention to the advertisement of this enterprising firm in another column. They are well and favorably known through the State, having been in business some time, and given general satisfaction to those having dealings with them. They are erecting a new store on East Water St., Milwaukee, the present season, which, when completed, will be one of the finest structures in the State. It is to be four stories in height, and 190 feet in length by 60 in breadth.—Madison Journal.

NOT BAD.—Some California papers do not use the old stereotyped headings as is practiced in the Atlantic States. Marriages appear under the head of "Risky Ventures;" Deaths are called "Departures;" while Divorces are called "Clearances." Each one of the four having as common a place in the papers as do Deaths and Marriages here at home.

Look out for Rabid Dogs.—A mad dog succeeded in biting several other dogs in this village last week, and attempted to bite persons. He was killed.—Jeff. Co. Jeffersonian.

MEXICAN NEWS.—The str. Texas arrived at New Orleans on the 13th inst., with advices from Vera Cruz to the 8th inst., and corresponding dates from the city of Mexico.

The news is of a highly interesting nature. The revolution at Acapulco was still in progress, and it was rumored that an engagement had occurred between the troops of Santa Anna and Alvarez, in which the latter was victorious.

A report was also current that the U. S. sloop-of-war Portsmouth had arrived at Acapulco, and finding the fort under blockade, threatened to force the same, on the ground that Santa Anna had established it without first warning foreign powers of his intention.

It had been announced that the French Government had disavowed the expedition to Sonora.

The brig Two-Ladies had not arrived at Vera Cruz, from New York, on the 8th. She was then 45 days out. Fears were entertained that she was lost.

THE Chicago Tribune says the Rock Island Railroad Company have, in that city, six buildings for the transaction of their work, situated just south of 12th and east of Clark streets.—They comprise car, machine and blacksmith shops, an engine house, and two smaller structures for the accommodation of water tanks, &c.—all erected at an expense of about $35,000: the machinery, &c., within them costing about $14,000.

The Company have now on their road nineteen first-class passenger cars, and five more are nearly completed.

THE Rutland (Vt.) Herald makes the following assertions in regard to the State in which it is published:—"There is but one city in the State, and not one soldier. We have no theatres nor mobs. We have no police, and not a murder has been committed within this State for the last ten years. We have no museums, opera houses, nor crystal palaces, but we have homes that are the centre of the world to its inmates, for which the father works, votes and talks—where the mother controls, educates, labors, and loves—where she rears men, scholars and patriots.

NEW NAIL-MAKING MACHINE.—A new self-feeding machine has lately been put in operation at Troy, N. Y., which, it is said, will manufacture, in a given time, twice as many nails as any other known process, while one man and a boy can operate ten machines. The saving in iron, also, is said to be great, the only waste being about one quarter of an inch in ten feet. It has been shown that one machine will manufacture from 300 to 350 nails per minute, all perfect in form and finish.

FUGITIVE SLAVE CASE.—A colored man named Jas. Worthington, for ten years a resident of Akron, Ohio, was arrested on the 19th inst., on a pretended charge of counterfeiting. The citizens ascertained that this was a mere ruse, that the real charge was that he was a slave, and they prevented his removal. Much excitement prevailed.

OHIO TAX LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL.—The case of Deshler vs. Treasurer of Cuyahoga Co., involving the validity of the Ohio Tax Law, relative to Banks, appealed from the District Court to the U. S. Supreme Court, has been decided in favor of the plaintiff—thus declaring the Tax Law unconstitutional.

THE UNITED STATES AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY is to hold its first Cattle Convention, at Springfield, Ohio, on the 25th, 26th and 27th days of October next, on which occasion premiums to the amount of $6,000 are to be distributed, for the best stock of the various breeds of cattle, subject to competition without territorial limits.

THE editor of the Newark Advertiser, growing ecstatic over one of the beautiful new three dollar pieces, says: "It has come to us with the daisies, and is one of the prettiest of the yellow blossoms of spring!" We agree with him. Who will send us a bouquet of these "yellow blossoms!"

BUILDING OF THE RUSSIAN MAN-OF-WAR.—It is stated that Mr. WEBB, the ship-builder, has resolved (under advice of those high in authority) to continue the building of the Russian man-of-war now in progress of construction in his ship-yard in New York.

A YOUNG MAN, 20 or 21 years old, attempted to put an end to his existence, at Detroit, on Wednesday last, by taking laudanum. He had been tippling for several days, and probably thought his conduct had disgraced him, so that he had lost the respect of all sober citizens.

TESTIMONIAL.—A meeting was held at New York, on the 18th inst., at which a committee of merchants was appointed to get up a suitable testimonial to Capt. Fish and others engaged in the recent rescue of shipwrecked passengers.

FASTING AND PRAYER.—The Churches of all denominations in New York propose to observe Friday, the 26th inst., as a day of fasting and prayer, in view of the political evils which now threaten the nation.

THE Pennsylvania Legislature, at its recent session, sat 100 working days. The number of acts passed and signed by the Governor was 692; nine others became laws without his signature.

FIRE AT BALTIMORE.—Messrs. Loyd & McElderry's lumber yard, at Baltimore, together with four warehouses, were destroyed by fire, last Monday. Loss $40,000. Insured for $23,000.

El Mulato—Cuba—Slavery.

The Spanish paper, El Mulato, published by Cuban Creoles, in New York, speaks thus of Slavery and Cuba:

Ought a Free Republic to possess Slaves?

"We hold the negative—that it ought not; and in that opinion we are supported by the celebrated Montesquieu, who declares as follows: 'A Republic that desires to be free ought not to possess slaves.' This government that vaunts of its freedom and civilization, and that declares this land to be an asylum for all seekers of liberty,—how is it acting to the poor slave? Is it endeavoring to alleviate his sufferings or preparing for his eventual emancipation or but pressing with greater severity the manacles that bind him? We are not desirous to arraign at the bar of public opinion the acts of the Representatives of this great nation in Congress assembled from partizan motives; but being natives of the Island of Cuba, where the institution of slavery is tolerated, and fostered by the Spanish government; and as annexation of this Island is talked of in high political circles, it falls within our legitimate province to review the Nebraska bill now pending before Congress: the provisions of which are to extend slavery and thereby perpetuate it.

We can not characterize that measure other than iniquitous and demoralizing, having for its object the perpetuation of an institution which is condemned by the whole civilized world: a stain on our national character and subversive of every fundamental principle upon which a free government ought to be based. The constitutional restriction to its progress is repealed,—an act devised by the profound and united wisdom of two of her most celebrated sons (Webster and Clay) as a final compromise.—Ere the refulgent dawn of summer appears, a territory which is called the garden of America will be desolated by that gaunt monster "slavery," and the poor unsuspecting victim of its oppression is to be transported thither only to view the beauties of God's creation and then to sicken and die. We transcribe into our columns the definition of slavery taken from the celebrated speech of Hon. Charles Sumner of Massachusetts.

"Slavery is the forcible subjection of one human being in person, labor or property, to the will of another. In this simple statement is involved its whole injustice. There is no offence against religion, against morals, against humanity, which may not stalk, in the license of this institution, unwhipt of justice. For the husband and wife there is no marriage; for the mother there is no assurance that her infant child will not be ravished from her breast; for all who bear the name of slave there is nothing that they can call their own. Without a father, without a mother—almost without a God—he has nothing but a master." There is not a word here expressed but in which we concur.

We are expatriated from our native land for the political principles we profess; but wherever our humble lot may be cast we will never cease to devote our energies to secure our country's independence and the extinction of slavery. This much we will say, and in so doing, we express the sentiments of the majority of creoles in the Island of Cuba, that on the day the flag of liberty will float from the Moro Castle, the mandate shall go forth decreeing universal emancipation, and in the language of the immortal Curran, we will exclaim, "The first moment a slave shall set his foot on our shores, that moment he stands redeemed, regenerated, and disenthralled by the irresistible genius of universal emancipation."

Petition for Cheap Ocean Postage.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled:

The undersigned, inhabitants of the Town of —, in the State of Wisconsin, respectfully pray your Honorable body to adopt the requisite measures for reducing, as soon as practicable, the present high rates of ocean postage, to the uniform charge of Two Cents for the mere sea service on a single letter from any port of the United States, to any foreign port at which the American mail packets may regularly touch.

The above is the form of petition adopted and circulated by the friends of cheap Ocean Postage throughout the country. There is a peculiar reason why the people of Wisconsin should favor this measure, as so large a portion of them have friends in Europe, and find their foreign correspondence no small tax upon their industry. Will not the German papers of the State copy this form of petition, and recommend their readers to sign it and send to their Senator in Congress, as the question is soon to come up there. If the petition should be adopted by Congress, the postage to Europe will be only five cents,—three cents for inland, and two for Ocean postage.

We wish the friends of cheap Ocean postage would sign this petition generally, and send it to their U. S. Senators. We have no doubt but Senators Walker and Dodge would heartily second the movement.

EFFECTS OF RAILROADS.—The Elkhorn Reporter, in speaking of the influence of Railroads, in raising the price of real estate and increasing business, thus describes the effect of the proposed Railroad upon Elkhorn:

"A new, and, with us, an extraordinary and unprecedented stimulus has been given to trade and commerce—new buildings, both for business and dwelling purposes, are springing up in our midst. But these are totally inadequate to the growing requirements of the town. Day after day sees strangers—eastern men and others—men of capital and energy, in search, but ineffectually, of a house or a store, as the case may be, wherein to locate themselves; and from the facts of this kind which have come under our own observation, we have no hesitation in asserting, that with house accommodation proportioned to the demand, the population of the town might be doubled in two months."

CHARLES DURKEE.—With others of our citizens we have had the pleasure of taking by the hand our late fellow-citizen, Chas. Durkee, who is on a short business visit to his old residence. This reminds us to say what we have had for some time on our mind. If the Anti-Nebraska men of this State want a representative at Washington, who won't need to be petitioned and public meeting-ed, and watched and staked all round to be kept straight—if the Homestead men want a man who will be right every time on that question—if the friends of economy and reform generally in our government, want a man who will never miss fire on those points—if Democrats want a man who is a Democrat all over in every sense of the word, and moreover if the men of our State want one who is a Man to earn and keep a good name for them at the seat of government, let them take Charles Durkee from the handle of his plough and next winter elect him to the United States' Senate. —Kenosha Telegraph.

EMIGRANT AGENCY LAW.—The Elkhorn Reporter says:

"We hope that Wisconsin will never convene another legislative body that will be silly enough to vote for any such law, or in other words, that will allow such a law to remain upon the statute book. It is an outrage upon the people to tax them to induce others to come. Our inducement are ample. A rich soil with abundant resources, cheap lands that cannot be excelled, with every facility for making life easy and agreeable. And if these will not bring population, we can do without them. Let them stay away, or go where they please. We never will give our vote or support to any man, no matter what his politics, who will support such a policy. This we pledge ourselves not to do."

Worthy of Consideration.

At the late aniversary of the American Anti-Slavery Society, Rev. Mr. Goodell, made a speech, the synopsis of which we republish from the N. Y. Tribune. It contains truths worthy of the consideration of sensible men:

Rev. William Goodell, said that the Slave question had been so fully discussed during the last twenty years, that it was difficult, if not impossible, to say anything on it which would not be deemed common-place. Still they had been brought to that pass by circumstances that we must needs look at the question with far more attention than had been hitherto given to it.—After sixty-five years of experimental legislation, it was obvious that their hopes of overthrowing Slavery were utterly deceived, and that all their efforts toward the prevention of its extension were of no avail. There was, in fact, but one course which lay before the people who had the question at heart, namely: an utter abolition of the system. After sixty-five years of constant labors in connection with the question of Slavery, they now found that the only way to get rid of it was by thrusting it out of the nation altogether. Under circumstances like these it is necessary to inquire, as practical men, what to do next. The friends of liberty are called to unite in measures, and in radical ones. But it is in vain to consider the political aspects of the question as connected with liberty until we have discussed its relations to civil law, the Constitution of the United States, the power of the States respectively, and the nature of the Federal Government. It is only when these things are fully considered and understood that we shall be able to unite our forces against the common enemy. With these remarks I will confine myself to suggesting a few views. I maintain that Slavery in this nation is at present national and under the control of the National Government. But it is illegal and has been so from the beginning. And having been so it is not in the power of the Federal Confederation to give it sanction. Slavery, in the first place, from its very nature, is incapable of being a legitimate subject of legislation. It is a crime, and by no hocus pocus can that which is crime be transformed into a legal institution. [Cheers.] The very maxims of common law show the utter falsity and absurdity of the assumption. Whoever will take the trouble of studying Coke, Lyttleton and Blackstone, will feel convinced of the utter impossibility of legalizing Slavery. What are the great principles of common law—that law which our forefathers brought with them in the Mayflower? The speaker then proceeded to quote several legal authorities, from which he showed that the law of nature is the foundation of the common law, and that the very principles of the common law repudiated the idea of Slavery. He also insisted that the opinions of jurists in the slave States themselves were in accordance with this view of the subject. The speaker then showed that the existence of Slavery depends solely on positive or municipal law. He also reviewed the question of Slavery in a historical point of view, and showed that while this country was subject to English dominion, Slavery was not an institution regularly authorized by the British nation, inasmuch as it is utterly repugnant to the spirit of the British Constitution, and to the spirit of every free people. But what shall we do in the state of affairs to which we are brought. The fact simply is, we must either abolish Slavery, or submit to political enslavement. Even the separation of the States would not effect our purpose, for in that case there would be no relief to the slave nor a removal of the responsiblity which we of the North largely share for our long participation in the system. The speaker concluded by saying that Slavery must be abolished, or that it would abolish the liberties of the country.

Tall Wheat.—We have now in our office a clump of wheat upwards of three feet in height This is pretty tall for the season. President MAHAN preaches at the Spring St. Congregational Church, to-morrow, at the usual hour.

DRUG STORES.—On the West side of the River, J. H. Tesch has fitted up, in a beautiful style, a store in Goodall's Block, and is ready to wait on all who may give him a call. We can vouch for his capacity and integrity.

On East Water-street, S. Johnson, Jr., offers his spring and summer stock of goods. It is a House of ten year's standing, and has a well deserved reputation throughout the State.

A little further down is the House of H. Bosworth & Sons. This store, for convenience and beauty, is not surpassed by any drug store in the West. The Sons—the active members of the concern—are Christians, energetic and enterprising men, and have built up a large and flourishing establishment, by unremitting attention to their own business.

FIRST WARD SCHOOL.—Mr. A. A. Griffith yesterday resigned the post of Principal of the First Ward School, the duties of which he has performed for the last 15 months with entire satisfaction, having gained the esteem of both scholars and parents, who very much regret that he has seen fit to withdraw from the School.

Mr Griffith goes into the office of E. Warthington, of this city, and we wish him abundant success in his new vocation, and we have every reason to believe he will achieve it.

WALKER'S POINT BRIDGE.—A schooner in passing through this Bridge this morning, ran against the north end of it and knocked off some 15 or 20 feet of the railing.

The laying of the rails of the M. & M. R. R. is completed to Madison.

Lot 2, 3, 6 and 7, in Block 61, and lots 15 and 16, in Block 62, fourth Ward were sold for $6,000.

Yesterday afternoon, as the brig David Ferguson was being towed down the river, from Higby's Warehouse, by the Steam Tug, a squall of wind struck the vessels and carried them quickly against Walker's Point Bridge, but no material damage was done to either.

North Western Sabbath Convention.

This convention, which met at Chicago, on Wednesday, closed its labors on Thursday, and adjourned sine die. It adopted the annexed resolutions and constitution:

1. Resolved,—That this Convention regard the holy rest of the Sabbath as a divine and perpetual obligation binding on us, and on all men as truly as any other command in the decalogue.

2. That the Sabbath was made for man, not as the chain for the prisoner, or the yoke for the neck of the ox, but as night is for man wearied with toil, as marriage is for man as a social being, as a civil government is for man in his secular interests; so the Sabbath is for man a great, wise and merciful arrangement of Divine Providence for the diffusion of general truth, the cultivation of pure morality, strengthening the tie of social sympathies that bind all classes of men together, and promoting the well being of man in all his relations and interests, social, civil and religious.

3. That the violation of the Sabbath by Railroads, Steamboats, canal boats, or other public conveyances in the transmission of passengers or freight, or the United States mail, is an immorality alike repugnant to the Divine law, to the best interests of society, and to the pecuniary interest of the owners of such conveyances.

4. That this convention highly appreciate and commend the action of such companies and individuals in the north west as have taken measures for the suppression of Sabbath breaking by our Railroad and other public conveyances, and we earnestly entreat all who are engaged in commercial business, and in the management of public conveyances, not to cease well doing until this form of Sabbath desecration shall be entirely done away.

5. That we recommend to the ministry of the various denominations here represented, to make the law of the Sabbath, with its practical benefits and the fatal consequences of a general desecration, a prominent topic in their public prayers and ministrations.

6. That the vast influence of emigrants among us from foreign and despotic countries, who have learned in their nation to hate the state of established religion, and the Sabbath law as made a part of it, calls on us for special prayer and labor in behalf of this portion of our population to reclaim them from the sins into which it plunges them.

7. That we lament the prevalence of multiplied forms of Sabbath violation in the way of pleasure riding, social recreation, amusements, and vicious indulgences. We would charge our own souls, and call on our brethren and the friends of morality and good order generally to avoid in their position, and to discourage in others, all appearance of evil in this respect, and to do all that may be properly done to repress Sabbath desecration in every form, and to extend the facilities for public worship so as to induce if possible our entire population to hear the gospel, that they may experience all the sweet and hallowed influence of the Christian Sabbath as God ordained it.

8. That it be earnestly suggested to all ministers of the gospel and members of churches from abroad, temporarily among us, that they conscientiously abstain from all violations of the Sabbath, by travel or otherwise, in view of the serious obstacles thus presented to the friends of the Sabbath in their efforts to save it from desecration.

9. That we regard it as an important part of the duties of the friends of the Sabbath to co-operate in sustaining and enforcing such laws as have been passed in any of the states here represented, designed to protect the sanctity of the Sabbath from open and wanton violation.

10. That this convention would respectfully suggest to the Congress of the United States, and of our several Legislatures, and to other public bodies, the importance of respecting the sanctity of the Sabbath in their public duties, and that in the high places to which they have been called they should not permit personal convenience, or the mere urgency of business to lead to the holding of business sessions in any wise trenching on holy time.

11. That this convention regard the press as a most valuable auxiliary in influencing public opinion, and suggest to those present to use their efforts to secure the publication of its proceedings as widely as possible.

12. That this convention earnestly recommend to all the ministers in attendance upon this convention, and to the different ecclesiastical bodies with which they are connected, that the last Sabbath in June be set apart for presenting the claims of the Sabbath, urging upon their different congregations the nature, importance and necessity of its right observance.

The following is the Constitution of that body, and the list of officers elected for the ensuing year.

CONSTITUTION.

Article I. This Association shall be called the North Western Sabbath Union.

Art. II. The object of this association shall be to promote the religious observance of the Sabbath.

Art. III. Any person may become a member of the Association by subscribing to this Constitution, and co-operating in the efforts to promote its objects.

A Curiosity.—We were shown quite a curiosity this morning in the shape of a perfectly developed four-legged chicken. It was hatched in the "hennery" of Mrs. Henry Dodge, wife of our Senator, and survived that operation only two days, dying young, in token of the esteem of those ancient divinities of whom we read. Mr. S. has stuffed it, so that it appears natural and life-like; and it may be seen by calling at the Museum.

Mr. Sercomb has made several valuable accessions to his collection of late, among others, a fine double crested Cormorant which he shot near Fourth Lake—the first known to have been seen in this State.—Madison Jour.

The Dying Struggles of that "Respectable Witness."

FREE DEMOCRAT OFFICE,
May 20th, 1854.

Geo. C. Haddock, who volunteered to "burn his fingers," and who has been shown up in his true character of a vile calumniator, has at last been choked off by his master, after being suffered still further to disgrace himself and his employer, if that were possible. In this morning's Satanic, he blows his feeble death blast and sings his last ribald song. True to his base instincts, he cannot die in silence, as a decent, penitent man would, who had been convicted of foul and malicious libels, but must reiterate his old falsehoods in the gross, and then maliciously coin new ones. Well, I have often been constrained to believe that the backslidden church-member, when he voluntarily embraces pollution, is, of all villains, the most wicked; and this Haddock proves to be an example in hand. He makes no defense against the facts I stated in regard to his own want of character, and admits that his object was to injure others; and he glories in a character which, by universal consent, is the basest and most infamous the world over—that of falsifier, libeller and informer.

A married person, who keeps a private box in the postoffice, that he may keep up a private "amatory correspondence," under an assumed name, with a Miss ——, a relative of the one before referred to, reading indignant lectures on morality through the columns of the Satanic! Oh!—oh!

Such a person is no more worthy of credit than the convicted felon or perjurer, and the opening of the columns of the Satanic to such infamous assaults, is indicative of the malice of the owners and conductors of that press.

I now have done with that "respectable witness of good character and veracity." Will the Satanic trot out its other one?

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Efficacious Remedies for the Cure of Bad Legs and General Debility of the System.—Mrs. Gibbon, 31 Bailey street, Newcastle-on-Tyne, had been a sufferer for a considerable period, from ulcers in her legs, which were so bad that she was almost incapable of walking, consequently her health became very much impaired. She tried many remedies without deriving any benefit. At the suggestion of others, who had been cured by Holloway's Ointment and Pills, she commenced using them, by which means her legs were soundly cured, and her health completely re-established.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

Arrival of the Europa.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Europa arrived to-day with Liverpool dates to May 6.

Combined Fleets are said to have bombarded Forts at mouth of Danube. A Polish Legion has been raised in Turkey. Russian Fleet said to have left Sebastopol. Prince Napoleon has arrived at Syra. Austrian troops will enter Lesser Wallachia.

France has called into service 80,000 troops. The loss of the Allies at the bombardment of Odessa was only six. The Turks have captured principal fort of Greek insurrectionists—the latter lost 150 killed.

Russians defeated in an encounter near Silistria. Turks made a gallant attack on Russians, but were compelled to retire in consequence of overwhelming numbers.

Bombardment of Odessa officially announced in Parliament. Reported that American clipper Grapeshot had turned privateer and captured French Merchantmen off Land's End.

Omer Pacha had advanced 17,000 men towards the Dobrudscha, and a battle ensued. No fighting yet on Baltic—All Russian ports strictly blockaded.

A debate took place in the House of Commons on the 4th inst., relative to Cuba and Slavery. Lord John Russell replied that recent assurances of Spanish Government, as to existing treaties on the subject, were satisfactory.

The following is the story about the Privateer. A sailor, representing himself as second mate of the French brig Ville de Marseilles, called on the Agent at——Cornwall, with the report that he had swum ashore from a Russian frigate, which had captured his vessel, 20 miles from land; that the captain and three of the crew were killed; that the frigate had first hoisted English and afterwards French colors; and had gone up the Channel.

The Admiralty sent two Steamers immediately in search of the reported frigate, and great excitement was caused the next day by a paragraph in the London papers stating, that news had reached the Admiralty that an American clipper ship, the Grapeshot, had captured a French merchant vessel off Land's End; adding that the Grapeshot cleared from N. Y., March 22d for St. Thomas, with packages ostensibly of hardware, but really containing muskets.—This explained the story of the Russian frigate.

LIVERPOOL MARKETS.—Gardiner & Co. report Beef favorable, prices steady—more inquiry for Pork. Large arrivals of Bacon—1s@2s lower. Lard heavy.

Breadstuffs—Good demand for Wheat and Flour with very large imports. Indian Corn—arrivals in excess and sells heavily. Flour is reported at 6d@1s lower per barrel, and Wheat unchanged. Corn 2s lower. Market for all articles rising steadily.

Denniston & Co. quote Western Canal 36s@37s6d—Baltimore and Philadelphia 36s6d@39s—Ohio 37s@38s—U. S. white wheat 11s6d@12s 4d; red do. 10s6d@11s6d. White Corn 36s@38s; Yellow 37s@38s. Richardson & Co. quote Ohio flour at 38s@38s6d. Corn 37s@38s—Holders refuse lower terms.

PARIS—Saturday.—Napier is anchored off Stockholm. Ice breaking up and Cronstadt was expected to be open by end of April.

The Greek Ports are rigidly watched by French and English ships of war. Pirates are swarming in the Archipelago. An English brig had drifted ashore on the island of Andros—no one on board—cabin drenched with blood.

On the 19th hostilities commenced between Turks and Montenigrins. It was reported that Austrians would occupy the provinces.

Doings in Congress.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—HOUSE.—Mr. Hunt of La., rose to make a personal explanation, which was the effect that the report of the proceedings of the House, published in the Globe yesterday afternoon in reference to the difficulty between himself and Mr. Craige, of North Carolina, was untrue, but that all the other papers contained a correct account of said proceedings.

In the midst of the excitement Mr. Hunt again jumped upon his feet, and stated that he yesterday branded his opponent's remarks as "false," and he branded them so still.

The excitement here became very great, and it was with the utmost difficulty that order could be restored.

Mr. Craige, in reply to Mr. Hunt, said that he (Hunt) had got himself into a scrape, and was now trying to sneak out of it.

Mr. Maxwell, of Florida, commenced a speech in support of the Nebraska bill.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Senate met at noon, on motion, in consideration of resolution in favor of increasing compensation now paid to Daily Globe for reporting debates in Senate, and authorizing the Sentinel to copy the same at the remuneration of $4,50 per column, was resumed.

House—after usual opening business, Speaker presented a communication from Secretary of State, transmitting copies of correspondence which had passed between United States and England, with regard to rights of neutrals on the existing war between Russia and Turkey. House then went into Committee on the Nebraska bill. Mr. Banks proceeded to address the House in opposition to the bill.

NEW YORK, May 17.—The Cunard steamer Africa sailed at 12 M., to-day. She takes out 157 passengers and $388,994 in specie.

Advices from Havana state that there are 10,000 additional troops on their way from Spain, to reinforce the island.

NEW YORK, May 18.—The packet ship Montezuma, from Liverpool for New York, is badly ashore on Rockaway Beach. Another large ship gone ashore on Fort Island.

A meeting was held at the Exchange this P. M.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Steamship Crescent City from N. O. and Havana, arrived this morning. Reports a British brig of war, and a French squadron, consisting of 1 frigate, 2 sloops of war, and 1 steamer going into Havana.

LITTLE BELL.

He prayeth well who loveth well
Both man and bird and beast.
[Ancient Mariner.

Piped the blackbird on the beechwood spray—
"Pretty maid, slow wandering this way, What's your name?" quoth he—
"What's your name? Oh! stop and straight unfold, Pretty maid, with showery curls of gold?"
"Little Bell," said she.

Little Bell sat down beneath the rocks—
Tossed aside her gleaming golden locks—
"Bonny bird," quoth she—
"Sing me your best song before I go!"
"Here's the very finest song I know,
Little Bell," said he.

And the Blackbird piped—you never heard
Half so gay a song from any bird—
Full of quips and wiles,
Now so round and rich, now soft and slow,
All for love of that sweet face below,
Dimpled o'er with smiles.

And while that bonny bird did pour
His full heart out, freely o'er and o'er,
'Neath the morning skies,
In the little childish heart below,
All the sweetness seemed to grow and grow,
And shine forth in happy overflow
From the blue, bright eyes.

Down the dell she tripped, and thro' the glade,
Peeped the Squirrel from the hazel shade,
And from out the tree
Swung, and leaped, and frolicked void of fear—
While bold Blackbird piped that all might hear;
"Little Bell!" piped he.

Little Bell sat down amid the fern—
"Squirrel, Squirrel, to your task return—
Bring me nuts!" quoth she.
Up, away! the frisky Squirrel hies—
Golden wood-lights glancing in his eyes,—
And adown a tree,
Great ripe nuts, kissed brown by July sun,
Hark! how Blackbird pipes to see the fun!
"Happy Bell!" pipes he.

Little Bell looked up and down the glade—
"Squirrel, Squirrel, from the nut-tree shade,
Bonny Blackbird, if you're not afraid,
Come and share with me!"
Down came Squirrel, eager for his fare,—
Down came bonny Blackbird, I declare,
Little Bell gave each his honest share—
Ah! the merry three!

And the while those frolic playmates twain
Piped and frisked from bough to bough again,
'Neath the morning skies,
In the little childish heart below,
All the sweetness seemed to grow and grow,
And shine out in happy overflow,
From her blue, bright eyes.

By her snow-white cot, at close of day,
Knelt sweet Bell, with folded palms to pray—
Very calm and clear
Rose the praying voice to where, unseen
In blue heaven, an angel shape serene
Paused awhile to hear.

"What good child is this?" the angel said,
"That with happy heart beside her bed,
Prays so lovingly?"
Low and soft, oh! very low and soft,
Crooned the Blackbird in the orchard croft,
"Bell, dear Bell!" crooned he.

"Whom God's creatures love," the angel fair
Murmured, "God doth bless with angel's care;
Child, thy bed shall be
Folded safe from harm—love, deep and kind,
Shall watch around and leave good gifts behind,
Little Bell, for thee!"

BOOTH'S INK FOR SCHOOLS.

EAST SAGINAW, Mich., Aug. 29, 1853.

W. W. BOOTH:

Dear Sir—I feel myself to be under weighty obligations to you for the dozen bottles of your Superior Black Ink. Several bottles are being used in my school, with most gratifying satisfaction. We hear not that common complaint of "poor pens," which we so often hear where an inferior or ordinary article of ink is used. 'Tis not its jetty, black, and shining smooth surface, alone, that gives it a superiority over other articles of the same name, but the readiness with which it always flows from the pen, and the property which effectually prevents metallic pens from corroding, under all ordinary circumstances. I can most cheerfully recommend its introduction into our primary schools as being precisely adapted to the use of children. Respectfully Yours, &c.,
J. O. SELDON, Principal of Buena Vista Academy, East Saginaw, Mich.

CITY LAND OFFICE.

A DARK DAY IS BEFORE US!

THERE will be an extraordinary Eclipse of the Sun on the 26th day of this present May, 1854, such as none but the oldest inhabitants in the country have witnessed. It will be very much similar to the Great Eclipse of 1806 (which I cannot exactly recollect) but all the cows came home and the chickens went to roost—so Grand Ma said.

But what has the Eclipse to do with Real Estate—What is more bright and beautiful than Milwaukee? Let none allow themselves to slumber; but arouse yourselves and secure homes for your families before it is TOO LATE! For property in Milwaukee will be worth double its present price as soon as all our Railroads are completed, and that magnificent Hotel (which will soon be under way) is built. What made Chicago what she now is, and what has increased her property? The Railroads and Hotels. So has Cleveland been benefited in the same way, and so will Milwaukee receive her reward. We are bound to have One Hundred Thousand inhabitants before ten years roll around. Nothing can prevent it. Where is a more beautiful city to be found, surrounded by a country densely populated by energetic and thorough Farmers, from all parts of the World—and as for Commerce and Mechanical operations, we have no equal this side of the Mountains! Our Water Power! What Western City can compare with it? So now take advice and secure yourselves homes, and be prepared for the Great Real Estate Sale, which comes off June 6th. I would also say to those who want to avail themselves of the benefit of this Sale to send in their list of lots before the 15th of May. I want to have my catalogue ready by the 20th.
